In seeing the meet, he will see the country club; for this is the great social as well as the great sporting gathering, and the gentleman in an English county whodoes not hunt must find his life somewhat lonely and dull. Rents have fallen immensely in consequence of the agricultural depression, caused by the influx of American and Indian grain into the British market; nor is there any prospect of better times. Mortgage debts are heavy, and the allowances to widows and younger brothers, which the system of primogeniture entails, have still to be paid. Thus the situation of the squire, and of the social structure which he crowns, is perilous. Will he bravely face it Will he cut down his luxuries, learn agriculture, become his own bailiff, give up game-preserving, and renounce idleness and pleasure-hunting, for a life of labour and duty 1...
